

IMPORTANT INFORMATION REGARDING DRIVERI DATA ACCESS

We have recently formalized our data retention policy for our Driveri cameras.

As of August 1, 2020 we will limit access to Driveri video data for three months plus the current month, and access to non-video data to twelve months plus the current month. So, for example, videos taken on August 15 will be available until the end of November. Non-video data gathered on August 15 will be available until the end of August next year.

For increased privacy, personally identifiable information will be disassociated from videos as per the data retention policy described above. For example, videos taken on August 15 will have their personally identifiable information disassociated at the end of November. Note that as of August 1, for any historical videos that still retain any associations with personally identifiable information, we will work to disassociate such personally identifiable information over time, a process that we anticipate will take until the end of 2020.